"Sweets," Corbett, Lohr, Jones. Another game will be played next Sunday in Columbus between "Pure Wine," a newly organized team and Platte Center.

J. H. Rodehorst, breeder of cherry red Duroc Jersey hogs, recently purchased the herd book of Ed Maher. He has three sows that raised 35 pigs this spring. Who can beat this record? Mr. Rodehorst believes that blood counts in more ways than one. He says he gets more pigs from pure bred stock and that they require less food for given gain than scrubs require.

The love of a Russian prince for a serf forms the focal point of a story of intrigue, strife, and heroism, told in dramatic form in the Russo-Siberian melo-drama, FOR HER SAKE, which comes to North's opera house Monday night, August 23. It is said to be one of the strongest Siberian plays of recent years, and the comedy element is said to be especially novel and consistent. There are scenes in peasant's huts, in a magnificent appointed ball room, in the interior of a Siberian mine, and other characteristic features. The scenery is said to be elaborate and exact as to detail.

The Columbus fire company was represented at the Norfolk tournament by only two men, B. J. Galley and Fred Ulrich. B. J. Galley, who acted as judge in the events of one day, says that not so many firemen were present as usual, but that the attendance from outside was unusually large, and that the program was interesting. York won the state championship, made the 300 yards run, laying hose 150 feet and making the necessary couplings in 32 and two-fifths seconds. Stanton was close second. And in the free-for-all, Stanton beat York, winning in 32 and one-fifth seconds. J. J. Johnson, well known in Columbus, now manager of the Fremont Steam Laundry, acted with Bert Galley as judge. The tournament was a success financially, netting a profit of $600. This is a good place to call attention to the meeting of the Nebraska Volunteer Firemen's Association which will be held in Columbus the third week of next January. Mr. Galley is chairman of the committee on constitution and rules of this association.

The last circular of the department of Agriculture announces for free distribution to farmers, a bulletin on butchering, curing and keeping meat on the farm. Farmers interested should write to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ask for Farmer's Bulletin, number 133.

The Western Seed and Irrigation company, represented here by Mr. Pennington, has 6170 acres in seeds in Nebraska and Colorado. Mr. Pennington says that prospects for a bonafide crop were never better. One forty-acre field of Hubbard squash, three miles from Columbus, is worthy of special mention.

Among the interesting things in the "Many Years Ago" items this week, it is recorded that "Gussie Speice was perfect in attendance and conduct, during the school week ending October 21, 1870. It is also recorded that "Major North went to Butler county yesterday to attend the trial of the Indians." Platte county had 1355 inhabitants and Douglas county 3,389 outside of Omaha, which had about 14,000.

The title of the play, FOR HER SAKE, stamps the piece as one of the sort throbbing with "heart interest," and there are said to be situations in it little short of terrific. Such a one is the fogging scene in which the serf girl, Gussie, the young woman with whom the hero of the story, Prince Valdemar, is in love, figures as the victim. The author, it appears, has taken good care to relieve such scenes as this with others of a comedy flavor. The play will be seen here at North's opera house Monday night, August 23.

Columbus already has a state wide reputation as a city of beautiful houses. And Columbus citizens are evidently bent on keeping that reputation good. Four new houses costing from $300 to $500 are in process of construction beside a number of smaller ones. M. H. White's house, the building which is in charge of Jas. Penwell, will be completed in about six weeks. The interior of this house will be finished up in oaks and maples, no expense being spared to make it strictly modern and up-to-date. J. N. Weaver is building a fine home on thirteenth street, personally superintending the work so that no possible provision for comfort and convenience will be overlooked. Mr. Weaver is pushing things and expects to have his new home ready for occupancy in September. H. Marlock has just completed a neat and commodious residence also on thirteenth street and J. C. Freydl has commenced the building of a modern home on seventeenth and L street that will cost about $3000 when completed.

"How to make bread" is a little book that every bread maker ought to own, and can own. The Northern Western Yeast Company is sending it free to any house-wife who writes for it.

This book tells some facts about the art of making bread that are new even to the most experienced. It says, and proves it, that the secret is in the yeast. It shows that pure vegetable yeast, like Yeast Foam, which is made of the finest malt, hops, corn, etc., brings out the nutty flavor and nutritious qualities of the wheat in a new way, and makes sweet, wholesome bread that keeps fresh and good as long as the batch lasts.

Yeast Foam is sold by all grocers at five cents a package and is having a wide and increasing sale. More and more the best housekeepers are learning the virtues of a yeast that can be kept on hand all the year round, that turns out never failing good bread which keeps their families healthy, and makes them eat, and eat and eat.

Send to Northwestern Yeast Company of Chicago, asking for their interesting book, "How to make bread."—free.

UGHT TO SLEEP WELL.

Eastern Potentate Orders Bedroom Suite of Solid Silver.

One's thoughts turn to the Arabian Nights when mention is made of a bedroom suite in solid silver, but such is the character of an order just placed at Sheffield, England. The name of the customer is so far secret, and the only information which can be obtained is that the instructions have come from the far east, and that the question of price is only a minor consideration. The designs are of oriental character and of a most elaborate description. The suite, which is in solid silver throughout, includes a bedstead, a dressing table, a wash basin, three foot-baths and three tea and coffee sets. The bedstead is of the most ornate character. Each of the four pillars will be surmounted by a beautifully modeled female figure nearly three feet in height. The modeling of the room and other decorations will also be of sterling silver.

WITH THE COST OF WAR

What Might Be Done for the Uplifting of the World.

"Give me the money," says a recent speculative philosopher, "that has been spent in war and I will purchase every foot of land on the globe. I will clothe every man woman and child in an attire of which kings and queens would be proud. I will build school houses on every hillside and in every valley over the whole earth; I will build an academy in every town and endow it, a college in every state and all it with able professors; I will crown every hill with a place of worship consecrated to the promulgation of peace; I will support in every pulpit an able teacher of righteousness, so that on every Sabbath morning the chime on one hill shall answer to the chime on another around the earth's wide circumference, and the voice of prayer and the song of praise should ascend like a universal holocaust to heaven."

AFRAID OF THE HOODOO.

Superstitious Negroes Fled Until It Was Removed.

Deputy Constable Frank Fenn of Houston, Tex., went the other afternoon to execute a writ of forcible ejection against a negro woman. He took with him two negroes who were to carry away the furniture. Fenn was absent a few minutes and when he returned the negroes were not to be seen. He got a glimpse of them about two blocks away moving at a very swift gait. Fearing that perhaps the men had stolen something, he took after them. When stopped the negroes said that they would not work in that house, that it was hoodooed. Being urged they told him they would return if he would go into a certain corner of the house and remove the hoodoo, which he would find tied up in a bag hanging from the ceiling. The officer found the bag. It contained bones tied up with kinky wool and hairpins. The woman said she could cast a spell over her enemies with it, because the bones were those of a black cat, while the wool was that shaved from the head of a negro born on Friday, the thirteenth day of the month. The negroes would not return to work until the officer had taken the bag of bones about a block away from the house, and even then they had misgivings as to whether or not it would be safe to touch anything in the house.

Many Years Ago.

(From files of the Journal November 2, 1870.)

Honoree Greely favors the removal of the capital to New York.
Major North went to Butler county yesterday to attend the trial of the Indians.

Yesterday the editor called at Col. John Richey's old camp. We believe this is the oldest stone west of Omaha. There is enough energy in him and his boys to do the work of a score or more of ordinary men.

Those who have bought land in Polk county will be interested to know that a county organization has been effected and that county officers for the transaction of legal business will be ready shortly. We learn also that a vote is to be taken on bridging the south channel of the Platte to connect with the Columbus free bridge across that stream.

The following are the names of those pupils in the city schools, who have been perfect in attendance and conduct during the week ending October 21: Josephine Bremer, Sarah Rice, Phoebe Senecal, Mary Weaver, Anna Bremer, Eleanor Bremer, Hugh Compton, Eva Coffey, Johnny Coffey, Louise Hudson, Anna Kelley, Eddie Kelley, Mary A. Ludwig, Mary Mullen, Mary Marmoy, Sarah Marmoy, Mary Mathews, George Mathews, Samuel Richey, Albert Richey, Bertie Reagan, Freddie Speice, Gussie Speice, Jennie Weaver, Valentine Weaver, Susan Wale.

The town council met last evening and appointed Charles Brindley street commissioner.

Handy & Thummler, civil engineers, have given to publishers an account of the bridges being built along the Platte river, in which they give Columbus credits for starting the enterprise. We quote the following from the article: "The pioneer bridge at Columbus was begun August, 15 and will be open for travel about November. Cost when complete, $30,000. This structure is an arch-beam truss of 65 feet span, 35 in number, or a total length of 1,715 feet. Piers of Norway pine piling, square, driven from 18 to 22 feet in the sand, with solid oak ice-breakers capped with railroad iron, and will sustain a load of sixty tons without over strain. Grand Island, has just begun building, plans are being completed for the Fremont structure. North Platte made contract a few days ago, subject to certain conditions relative to bonds, to build across the river identical to that of the Columbus bridge. All of these Wells & French Co., of Chicago have the contract for the construction and L. M. Beebe & Bros., of Columbus the sub-contract.

Following is the correct copy of the census of Platte and near-by counties: Platte, 1,925; Madison, 1,168; Polk, 372; Colfax, 1,430; Douglas, outside of Omaha, 3,389; Omaha city, 16,147. (From files of Journal November 9, 1870.)

M. Post has established a cigar factory on 7th street.

The new fence around the Clothier House adds greatly to the appearance of the property and will prove a good wind-break.

Hon. Guy C. Barnum, accompanied by his son George, started to Omaha the first of the week with a large drove of cattle. The U. P. charges $30 a car to Omaha.

J. G. Higgins has purchased of Dr. Stillman two acres of land south of Mr. Kummer's ten acre lot, and he intends erecting a residence there.

It has been said repeatedly that the Platte could not be bridged; that the force of the ice in the spring was too great for any bridge to withstand; that the quicksand would slip way with the foundation, but Platte county men have not been afraid to undertake the task, and were the first to risk it, and now the bridge has been reared and is a grand success. We all feel proud of it and wish to celebrate in a suitable manner.

A reader sends in an interesting description of a prairie fire which raged in Butler county. Over 15000 tons of hay were consumed. Following is the closing paragraph of the letter: "I reached the Platte valley on Wednesday and found some twenty men near in consultation as to the best method to be adopted to secure some thousands tons of hay which was scattered over five or six sections of land. The dark column of smoke just visible over the bluffs warned them to take immediate action. They chose Mr. Willson to act as leader, who at once took charge of the men assembled. There then commenced a race against wind and fire, which resulted in the men coming out just one minute ahead, with the loss of two stacks of hay containing some ten tons. This wild, rushing fire was a fearfully grand sight."

Dr. W. H. Slater, Veterinarian, office in Dack's Drug Store.
